The Advance

Unanimous Support Given Pearce Stock Watering Scheme by Legislature

G. A. Forester, M. L. A., Moves That Federal Government Proceed With Stock Watering Project--Lorne Proudfoot M. L. A., Gives Strong Support

Establishing a record, in being placed before the Dominion government the first resolution to receive unanimous support of the day. This government sent several survey parties this season, the Wm Pearce Stock Watering Project received hearty endorsement of every member on Tuesday. Following a stirring appeal by Gordon Forester, M. L. A., Hand Hills, who introduced a motion of vital importance to the people along the goose lake line and in adjoining areas, the Dominion Government is being requested to seriously consider undertaking the Wm. Pearce $10,000,000 Stock Watering Scheme for the drought area, investigated and proposed some 10 years ago by the late Wm. Pearce. Forester's motion received hearty support by the Honorable Geo. Hoadley, Minister of Agriculture; by W. G. Macpherson of Provost; as well as loyal support of Lorne Proudfoot, M. L. A., Acadia.

Lorne Proudfoot, member for Acadia, said he felt sufficient already had been said to insure unanimous approval of the house. "I wish to publicly thank the government for the work done in my area in these depressed times. When last year it became apparent that we were going to have a complete crop failure, the government, through its field men, were soon on the job to take action."

Mr. Proudfoot said that the climate of the area under review was superior to that of the more northern sections of the province. Also he felt that some of the best people lived there. All that was lacking was water. Nothing would land itself to a relief project better than this and it was a known fact that moisture benefited adjacent lands in offsetting the effects of the dry winds. It was not really the dry area but the drying winds had the damage.

Mr. Forester gave an extended history of the area affected by the resolution from the earliest time, touching on settlement policies of various Dominion governments, quoting reports of Captain Palliser and tracing routes followed by that explorer on a map. He delved into comparisons of soils contrasting the chocolate loams of the dry belt with the grey soils of northern wooded areas. In his opinion moving of settlers into northern Alberta would not solve the problem of the drought area. In the drought area, said Mr. Forester, there were 3,640 resident families with a total population of 14,730. Of this number only 107 families were on direct relief. A survey showed that only 360 families wished to move out of the area, made up of 181 in the autumn and 179 next spring. Showing the large number of livestock in this area, Forester said there were 31,293 work horses, 18,000 milch cows, 19,852 young stock 8,537 feeder stock, 195,702 poultry, 9,743 swine, 19,225 sheep. The people have everything but one thing and that one thing is water. They need water for stock and development of irrigation schemes he said. A survey of all the area north of the Red Deer River has been made by William Pearce, an eminent Calgary engineer, details of which have been

Shipping Via Bay Route

Advance Notice Of July Sailing Announced By Dalgleish Line
Advance shipping notice of July westbound sailings into Churchill has been announced by the Dalgleish Line.

The S.S. "Dalworth" will load at Newcastle, Antwerp and Liverpool. A second sailing will follow towards the end of August if business warrants.

The S.S. "Dalworth" will leave Churchill for London about August 20, and apart from grain, space has been reserved for 2,000 tons of general cargo.

The S.S. "Dalworth" has been substituted for the S.S. "Penwynd" on the Hudson Bay route, indicating that the latter steamer, now stranded in the St. Lawrence is unlikely to again be put into service, officials believe.

Wheat Control Legislation

With the introduction of legislation in the House of Commons at Ottawa, and simultaneously in the legislatures of the three prairie provinces, whereby power is to be taken by the several governments to control the marketing of wheat, a complete reversal in the policy which has hitherto been one of the outstanding features of Canada's development will become effective. Time alone will reveal whether the policy now being adopted is wise or not, but unquestionably the several governments concerned are convinced that it is a necessary step to take at this particular period in our national and economic history.

From the earliest days of the opening of Western Canada to settlement, and following the construction of our first transcontinental railway, it has been the aim of all governments at Ottawa not only to encourage settlement, but through the provision of all necessary services to promote the production of the greatest possible volume of wheat. In the development of these policies the Federal government has been assisted and its efforts supplemented by the Provincial governments in the West. Production was encouraged in all possible ways and by every practicable means. A never ceasing battle against weeds, insect pests, rust, losses from hail, has been waged; new varieties of early ripening grain have been developed in order to increase the area capable of wheat production; the use of good clean seed has been stressed; the credit of the Dominion and the provinces has been utilized to make Western Canada a great wheat producing country.

Under the legislation now before parliament and the legislatures, governments are to take control of wheat sales and marketing in order to restrict the volume of such sales, and to apportion among the farmers the amount each will be permitted to sell in the coming crop year, while the Federal authorities will control the volume of sales and deliveries outside the provinces.

"Control of Marketing of Wheat Act" of a uniform character submitted to the legislatures of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta provide for control by license or otherwise of the quantity of wheat which each owner or occupant of land may sell during the crop year 1934-35. This legislation also provides that any wheat sold in the provinces shall be sold and delivered in accordance with the regulations made by the Provincial Boards; allows an interprovincial board to take possession and sell wheat stored anywhere in the province; provides power to enter into contracts or agreements of any kind with respect to the purchase, sale, handling, transportation, storage and insurance of wheat and to determine what constitutes delivery or possession.

In a word, the provinces take absolute control over the marketing, purchase and sale, and the handling and transportation of all wheat within their respective provinces, while the Dominion takes control of the sale and deliveries of wheat outside the provinces whether within Canada or to other countries.

This, in substance, is the manner in which it is proposed to implement Canada's undertaking in the International Wheat Agreement negotiated at London last year, rather than to attempt to enforce a definite per cent reduction in the acreage sown to wheat and which might, or might not, depending upon climatic and other conditions, result in a lowered wheat production.

Unquestionably the administration of this new legislation will be difficult. It will call for great tact and discrimination if almost universal criticism of and opposition to it is not to develop. Consideration must be given to those thousands of wheat farmers in the drought stricken areas of the West who have not enjoyed normal crops for several years and many of whom have had no crops at all. If crop conditions are favorable this season they must be allowed full opportunity to rehabilitate themselves. The needs of a farmer with a large family of young children are necessarily greater than those of a farmer having no family, or whose children are now of adult age and can care for themselves. In fact, a hundred and one varying circumstances will arise demanding consideration. Hence, the task of issuing individual licenses fixing the quantity of wheat which each farmer may sell will be a task in itself.

The new legislation is to be effective for one year only, although, of course, it may come up for review prior to its expiration. In view of present world conditions this restrictive legislation may be necessary; governments at all events appear to be convinced that it is necessary. Therefore, despite the many conflicting views which prevail, it would appear to be best that people generally should not only agree to give it a fair trial, but that they should do what lies in their power to make the proposed system operate as efficiently and with as little friction as possible. Let us see what it can accomplish for our farmer producers in the crop year 1934-35.

Russia's Grain Supply

Government Starts Campaign To Avail Famine In Future

The Soviet government has instituted a campaign to assure Soviet Russia adequate grain supplies this year and avoid future threats of famine. Both party and government officials throughout the union have been ordered carefully to select grain seeds and test for germination before planting. In the past, poor seed has been blamed for huge crop failures, resulting in famine threats in areas where the farmers should be able to produce plenty.

Gold packed in 123 boxes and valued at $4,250,000 recently arrived in a ship at Plymouth, England, having been sent from Australia and India.

Alberta Telephones

Zoning Plan To Deal With Rural Lines Proposed

Adoption of a zoning plan dealing with the rural telephone lines so that sections would be kept in operation for social service or other purposes was recommended to the Alberta legislature by Premier Brownlee when speaking on the Duggan resolution demanding a inquiry by a house committee into the problems of this public utility, said to have an accrued loss of $10,000,000.

The premier also announced that the government has already taken steps to select a competent engineer to make a survey of the department with a view to supplying a house committee with required information.

EXCESS FAT DUE TO RHEUMATISM

One Remedy For The Two Troubles

Having rheumatism so badly that she could scarcely walk, this woman began to put on a load of superfluous flesh. In a letter just received, she writes: "I had a severe attack of rheumatism in both knees. It was so bad that for three weeks I could not put my feet to the ground. I was also getting terribly fat—through not getting my usual exercise. I started taking a walk every day. The walking I noticed was the tonic effect it had; the next that my rheumatism went, and—better than anything—I lost the wretched fat. I am a woman of 50, and until I tell you, I expect the same results as women half my age without the least difficulty. I think you will understand why I swear by Kruschen Salts and recommend them warmly. I go to the doctor and he says the salt is the only salt that cures rheumatism."

The six salts of Kruschen assist the internal organs to throw off each day the waste products that encumber the system. Then, little by little, that ugly fat goes—slowly, yes, but surely. The rheumatism disappears, the headaches disappear. You feel wonderfully healthy, youthful and energetic—more so than ever before in your life.

Creating Library Fund

School Teachers At Flin Flon Enlist Support Of Citizens

Plans are underway by teachers of the Flin Flon public and high schools for the creation of a library fund and the purchase of books, as circumstances permit to form the nucleus of a school library, this initial stock to be added to from time to time.

Two years ago the teachers clubbed together and with money out of their own purses bought a piano for the school. In undertaking to provide a library they are this time enlisting the support of citizens.

Marvels of the Human Eye

By F. M. CROWE, Optometrist-Optician, Calgary

NO. 5—MYOPIA, OR "SHORT-SIGHTEDNESS"

As explained in Article No. 4, to obtain normal vision, the depth of the eyeball and the curvature of the lens and cornea should be in exact relation to each other.

Should the depth be too great or the focal point of the image will be in the Vitreous Humor in front of the retina. The rays from the image looked at, after focusing will cross and proceed to the retina forming an enlarged and blurred image. This is the Myopic eye, forming a "weak eye" such symptoms as easily tired and weary eyes often accompanied this condition. Browning or knitting the brows to obtain better vision is very characteristic of Myopia.

As I said in explaining Hyperopia that it is the shortest distance of a "normal" eye, turning in (crossed) so Myopia is the usual cause of the eye turning out. The great danger of turning even a small amount of Myopia to go uncorrected is the almost certain probability that it will get worse and worse. It is estimated that of all the refractive errors of the eye only six or seven per cent. of people are Myopic. Myopia may be congenital or acquired. It may be acquired by excessive close work especially during the time when the eyeball has reached its maturity. True Myopia will never improve and all that can be hoped for is that by wearing proper glasses early enough it will not increase and get into the "progressive" type with its resultant evils. It should always be corrected as soon as discovered, if for no other reason, to prevent further increase of the trouble. Excessive close work, especially if done under improper lighting conditions, is the principal cause of producing and increasing Myopia. Such people are usually intolerant of strong light. Being a "weak eye" such symptoms as easily tired and weary eyes often accompany this condition. Browning or knitting the brows to obtain better vision is very characteristic of Myopia.

Thin Wall Of Gas

Very Narrow Margin Protects Humans From Sun's Death Rays'

An eighth of an inch of gas is all that stands between the human race and destruction by "death rays" from the sun, according to Dr. Charles G. Abbott in his annual report to the Smithsonian Institution. This ozone "wall" lies forty miles above the earth in the upper reaches of the stratosphere and is spread through considerable space. But if it were concentrated it would be less than one-eighth of an inch thick.

The ozone absorbs short-wave ultra-violet rays that would blind, blister, and eventually destroy all earthly life if they could penetrate the earth's atmosphere. If they could penetrate the earth's atmosphere, they would eventually destroy all earthly life if they could penetrate the earth's atmosphere. If they could penetrate the earth's atmosphere, they would eventually destroy all earthly life if they could penetrate the earth's atmosphere.

SYNOPSIS

Camilla Hoyt and Peter Anson, young and lowly, meet secretly, decide to live their own life until Peter is able to provide for her. Peter is a young, struggling sculptor trying to win a competition for a scholarship abroad and Camilla is the adopted daughter of a wealthy family. She does not know when she comes of age and so is studying commercial art in the hope of landing an advertising job. Others in the story: Avis Werth, a sister who wants to go to work; Peter's Sylvia Todd; Peter's model, Gus Matson, his former roommate with whom he has quarreled. At a party at an exclusive club Peter meets a woman who goes with impersonations. When the rest of the members of the party go to a cabaret to continue the gaiety, Peter and Camilla slip off to the beach themselves and fall asleep on the sand. When they awake it is early morning and Avis and another boy are standing near them. This makes it necessary for Camilla to announce before the party begins that Peter is married. Bowman and Weeks, an advertising agency, where Camilla has submitted some of her work, send for her and tell her they have unusual treatment of juries which requires unusual treatment of juries. Camilla's surprise she learns that the account is that of her foster father's company, which has decided on an extensive campaign to bolster up lagging business. After a conference with Mr. Weeks, Camilla decides to attempt the work. The critics were enthusiastic about her work, and Mr. Weeks offers her a salary of $50.00 a week to start and a prospect of a permanent position if she can keep a dinner engagement with Peter. She tells Peter of her good fortune in securing employment. Mrs. Hoyt is also informed that Camilla has been accepted and is going to leave the Hoyt household. Avis Werth rents a studio on the same floor as Peter, and invites him to have lunch there.

CHAPTER XXXV

After all, what was the harm in accepting Avis' friendly invitation? She had managed it so that Peter would seem absurd to refuse. His only concern was for time, and he had been about to run to the corner counter for something to eat, anyway.

"On one condition," he warned her, severely.

"Oh, I know what you are going to say, old ambitious—that I don't encourage you to linger after the last and ambrosia. He ate hungrily and chattered amably. Avis marked a score on her mental chart.

She would not be so astute as to ruin a good start by indiscretion. The way to make a man believe he wanted a thing very much was to let it become a pleasant and voluntary habit with him. In other words, to make Peter believe he wanted her companionship and the comfort of her solicitous concern for his welfare, more than anything else, was to allow him to develop a casual habit of accepting them. She would force them upon him gradually while she made him believe he sought them without being aggressive—easily, naturally.

It was she, even, who suggested firmly, when he had done ample justice to the food and was smoking leisurely in a deep armchair, "Isn't it about time you went back to your work, old ambitious?"

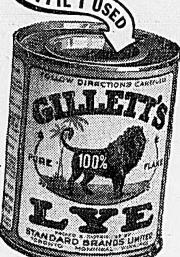

"Did the whistle blow?" he asked with amused surprise. "I didn't hear it. But you are just right about my getting back to work. You almost made me forget that times waits for no man and opportunity flies."

"Your quotations are all jumbled," Avis laughed.

"The food has gone to my head."

HOW to get rid of those ugly toilet-bowl stains! It's easy—with Gillett's Pure Flaké Lye. Once a year pour this powerful cleanser and disinfectant—full strength—down toilet bowls and drains. It flushes off stains without scrubbing. Cannot harm enamel or plumbing. Kills germs and destroys all odors as it cleans!

There will be lots of time for you to browse around when your piece is finished and you are waiting for the verdict of the judges. That will be better for you than walking the floor in suspense. She glanced around the room. "But don't you notice what is missing?"

He looked about, dubiously. "If there is a minute quantity it can't be more than x, y, or z."

"And you a sculptor!" she chided.

"That's right," his glance surveyed the room again. "You don't support the profession, evidently."

"That is just what I want to do. But I purposely omitted the sculpture because I want you to do me something very special when you have time."

"Does that constitute an order?" incredulously.

"Several, perhaps?" She smiled and tapped a bronze table gong. Tillie appeared promptly with a steaming tray.

To Peter, whose nourishment for weeks had consisted chiefly of hasty sandwiches, coffee and heavy pastries, the feed came up, creamed sweetbreads and feather-weight biscuits with guava jelly were nectar he apologized. "But, seriously, that's the first decent meal I've had for a week. I hope I didn't act the gluton."

Avis was clever. She did not repeat the same strategem too often. Sometimes, it was just a steaming cup of coffee, handed in to him at the right moment without personal interruption, or an iced drink in the evening when he had stopped work for the day, followed by a friendly goodnight.

For contrast, there were several days at a time when her door was closed and her rooms devoid of human sounds, while she filled social engagements or remained aimlessly at home. But she was never absent from the studio long enough to allow Peter's growing sense of loneliness to merge into forgetfulness. She dabbed with her painting, entertained or just amused herself, striving for patience and a friendly indifference toward Peter at the same time that she displayed an intense interest in his work and progress.

So subtle was the effect upon Peter that he soon forgot his aversion to an impudent neighbor, dropped his antagonism toward the Avis Werth of the past whom he concluded he had judged too severely, and became so accustomed to her friendly concern for him that he relaxed into its pleasant comfort as he sank wearily and gratefully into one of his cushioned chairs and sipped a refreshing drink at the end of an arduous day.

Old Magazine Is Valuable

Contains Complete History Of Calgary 46 Years Ago

Handled by countless work-hardened hands, yet carefully placed away so that the next visitor might find something with which to while away the long hours. An old publication of great interest to students of history has been found in a deserted cabin in the Caribou district, eight miles from Barkerville, and brought to Calgary by R. Forster.

How long the magazine lay in the cabin is unknown, but it was published in 1888 and probably was taken into the gold mining district in that year. It gives a complete picture of the Calgary of 46 years ago, mentioning business leaders who are still active in the affairs of the city.

It mentions the first cattle shipment to the United Kingdom in 1888. From this district 1,300 head were sold, but a portion of these were sold in Montreal.

Canada's New Flour Markets

New markets were gained by Canadian flour in 1933—France, Portugal, Salvador and Alaska. In 1933 Canadian flour was shipped to external markets in all compared with 75 markets in 1932. The British Empire took 4,318,859 barrels of Canadian wheat flour in 1933 compared with 1,251,565 barrels taken by non-Empire countries.

The way in which the pies disappeared at supper time was a striking tribute to the ladies domestic talent. No doubt this was taken notice of by the eligible bachelors present.

After supper everyone enjoyed dancing to the excellent music which was so kindly donated by many of our able local musicians.

They are to be congratulated for the peppy Irish music they played for the occasion. In the wee small hours of the morning on St. Patrick's day everyone Irish or not went home with a happy spirit.

The C. P. R. M. S. group of the C. G. I. T. held their meeting last Sat. at 1 p.m. at Myrtle school.

After the social hour business took place by discussing and making arrangements for the various kinds of work that they will do at their future meetings. It was voted and carried that Miss Elliott be the committee to get material to work on while she is away in Calgary at Easter.

The next meeting is of special interest and will be held April 14 at 2 p.m. The meeting closed with taps.

BEST WHEAT IS GROWN IN SOUTH

Canada's wheat has gained world recognition largely on the production from the southern portion of the prairie provinces. These areas grow a strong, hard variety of cereal suited for the high protein content. Importers all over the world buy Canadian wheat largely on the basis of the peculiar quality furnished by the production of the southern portion of the west's prairie land.

Of recent years the introduction of earlier ripening varieties of wheat have extended the wheat belt northward. The heavier rainfall there made wheat growing surer. Large yields have been obtained but the quality of the product has suffered. Hard, red, vitreous wheat cannot be grown in any large volume in the northern wheat areas. Its natural home is in the drier south.

G. H. G. Short, honorary president of the Canadian National Millers' Association, has recently pointed out that the northern wheat grower is riding on the back of the grower in the south. The lower grade wheat from the north is going into export channels on the reputation achieved over many years by the superior wheat grown on the south in prairies. The problem may become serious as time goes on because the tendency may be to increase production in the north and thus lower the general standard of Canadian export wheat.

It is evident that southern prairie farmers have not grasped just what has been going on of late years. They may awake to a realization of the situation before long and demand a premium for their better product or the grading of their grain on a protein basis. It may even develop that importing countries may specify the areas from which they want wheat, much after the custom followed by the Canadian flour mills.
